

Love Tapes in Chicago

Wendy Clarke

LOVE TAPES IN CHICAGO WENDY CLARKE

Love Tapes is an on-going interactive video art project; an expanding series of three minute tapes made by people from diverse backgrounds sitting alone in a room, talking about their feelings about love, as they look at their image on a T.V. monitor. Music of their choice plays in the background.

Each participant explores an intimate, personal process of producing art from his or her own particular life experience. Each Love Tape documents, and stimulates a sharing with others, a topic which is both personal and universal.

LOVE TAPES VIDEO VAN

How do Chicagoans feel about love?

"I hope that every person in Chicago takes three minutes to make their own personal videotape about love." — Wendy Clarke

The VIDEO VAN will be parked at several locations throughout the city October 15. Call 565-1793 for times and locations.

Make your own Love Tape!!

CONTINUOUS SHOWING of Love

Tapes—The Chicago Public Library Cultural Center, 78 East Washington, October 12-14, at the Washington entrance to the Cultural Center. 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. daily.

EXHIBITION OF THE LOVE TAPES—

The Chicago Editing Center, 11 East Hubbard Street, 7:30 p.m., October 16, $3 Admission (Free to members).

Exhibition of the Chicago Love Tapes, and Love Tapes from New York (recently exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art). An open discussion with the artist will follow.

Part of the Chicago Editing Center's Artists-in-Residence series funded by the National Endowment for the Arts, the Illinois Arts Council, and the Continental Bank Foundation.

Scanned from the Wendy Clarke collection at the Wisconsin Center for Film and Theater Research, with support from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Wisconsin Center
for Film and Theater Research

<http://wcfr.commarts.wisc.edu>

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES